MARKET REPORT
IMF chief warns world isn't ready for shocks that are piling up

International Monetary Fund Managing Director Kristalina Georgieva said that after facing crisis upon crisis in recent years, the world needs to build foundations that can withstand shocks that have become more frequent. "I am worried that we are not completely internalising yet that this is how the world is going to be," Georgieva said on Bloomberg's podcast Leaders with Francine Lacqua. "We are not going to get to a place where shocks are gone."

HEADLINE CPI: The CPI calculates the cost to purchase a fixed basket of goods as a way of determining how much inflation is occurring in the broad economy. The CPI uses a base year and indexes current year prices based on the base year's values.

CORE CPI: The headline figure is not adjusted for seasonality or for the often volatile elements of food and energy prices, which are removed in the Core CPI.
